KAISER TO HOLLANDPRES. CANCELS OUTSTANDING DRAFT CALLS

Washington, Nov. 11—Robert J. Bender—at six o'clock this morning, United States Eastern time, the greatest war in history came to an end, the State Department Officially Announced to-day. The German Plenipotentiaries signed United States and Allied armistice terms at Marshall Foch's headquarters at five o'clock this morning, French time, and that hostilities ceased at 11 o'clock this morning, French time, while an armistice merely halts war and does not end it the terms laid down by Foch are such as to prevent Germany from renewing hostilities and the war therefore may be regarded as definitely ended. There remains now the great problems of a peace conference and the gigantic work of returning the fighters to the home lands.

Geneva and Brussels are considered as most likely place for the peace negotiations, and so far the General Staff has already completed its plans for a general demobilization. The nation celebrated wildly to-day. Factories and stores everywhere were closed and thousands formed intertwining parades.

Kaiser Bill Flees to Holland

London, Nov. 11, Germany today is Kaiserless and Kingless. All reports tended to show that in addition to the Emperor all the Kings, Princes, Grand Dukes and other Royalty of the Empire, had renounced that their divine right to rule over a people which already had abdicated that right by Revolution. Former Kaiser Bill has fled to Utrecht Holland with his frau.

All Draft Calls are Cancelled

Washington—Wilson will read Armistice Terms to congress today he also has cancelled all outstanding Draft calls,

"THE FREEDOM OF THE EAST" DRAMA

Remarkable Picture, First Made by Chinese Actors Seen in Brainerd on Friday

PRIVILEGED FEW WITNESS IT

Brainerd Opera House has Two New Motion Picture Machines, Direct from New York

A privileged few, very few at that, you could count them on less than one hand, sat in the opera house on Friday evening and witnessed, through the courtesy of F. S. Workman, manager, the new Chinese picture, "The Freedom of the East."

It was a rare occasion in these flimsy times. The audience included the motion picture man at the machine, the reporter in the gallery and Mr. Workman in the parquette. Overcoats were the rule, as the house had not been heated.

Mr. Workman has just completed installation of two new motion picture machines that had been used in demonstration work in New York and throughout the east. The booth has been wired and built according to the most approved fireproofing plans.

The curtain installed is a model of its kind. Not a flicker or shake was visible as the thrilling episodes marking the six reels of "The Freedom of the East" were released.

It portrayed in quaint fashion the rise of democracy in China and the heroine eventually falls in love with the prince. It brought back vividly Kipling's "The East" and the west, the twain which shall never meet.

The Chinese princess fell in love with the American, saw him claimed by the white girl of his choice and then, brooding at home, is wooed and won by the native prince who had identified himself with the revolutionary society and then reveals himself as the prince.

"The brook flows wide between us," said the little princess who had first scorned him.

"Not so wide but two arms can bridge it," said the prince.

And straightway she nestled in his arms, not riotously as they do in Chicago and Brainerd, but shyly, slowly and demurely methodically and as their ancestors did in ancient China.

Under present conditions it is for the welfare of the community that the ban is still on and we gladly comply with the decision of the board of health. It seems to us, however, that even stricter rules could be applied. In some places influenza signs are tacked to the houses when the sickness rages. This helps from getting in contact with the sickness unknowingly.

But we are anxiously looking forward to the day when young and old may gather again into the house of the Lord. The Psalmist said, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." How indifferent we have been about worshipping God in times of peace and health. When the Lord is the best and safest friend to have in sickness and death, why not choose Him in the days of youth, health and prosperity.

Again we will gather around our family altars Sunday. Read Psalm 51 and also God's comforting words in John 14. Let us also remind ourselves again of the "blessed hope" the Lord's return. The Sunday school topic "Jacob Deceives His Father," Lesson Gen. 27:18-29 Golden Text Eph. 4:25. P. Alfred Peterson, pastor.

Town Has Long History.

Manheim isn't an old town. The village that preceded it dated back a hundred years, but the real Manheim has just entered its fourth century. It was founded by Protestant refugees from Holland, who gave it a strongly fortified castle and brought a flood of trouble on the place. During the Thirty Years' war that castle and the town were taken and retaken less than five times. In 1794 it was the hands of the French and then the Austrian army bombarded it so severely that scarcely a building was unharmed. In 1803 a grand duke, the fortifications razed and Manheim became a town.

The Better Part

By MURIEL LEE

"There are the securities, Mr. Paine. I wish to sell them quickly and for cash."

"It will have to be at something of a sacrifice," submitted Gregory Paine, lawyer.

"I do not care for a trifling loss. I wish to dispose of all that I have. I am going to leave Wareham for good."

Benevolent old Gregory Paine viewed his client with mingled curiosity and regret. Man and boy, he and his father had been advisers and agents for the Tresham family for well nigh onto fifty years. More latterly the estate had dwindled and the income of Miss Gloria Tresham had been in a measure sparse, but he sentimentally cherished these old family connections.

"I can speak with you confidentially," went on Miss Tresham, her eyes lowered, a slight flush on her face, clear and beautiful at thirty, and none of her girlish grace and staidness gone. You remember Wallace Blair?"

"Surely," nodded Lawyer Paine, and memory went back speedily to trace a connection for the present unexpected allusion.

"He was the one romance in my life," went on Miss Tresham steadily. "We were never engaged, but we were close, very close friends. It may have been my foolishness, it may have been a sense of duty, circumstances, what you will, but he married another. I have never ceased to respect him. An invalid wife, he devoted his life to her. An aged, dependent mother and three little children, his son was bound up in them. He invested all he had in Mexico. He took his wife thither, hoping to mend her health. Poor soul! she soon died, and six months ago, in protecting his property from raiders, he was killed."

"A sad, sad story," murmured Mr. Paine. "And the little ones?"

"He left them at Northgate in charge of his mother. When his remittances ceased I understand they faced the direst poverty, even suffering. Four lives against my selfish, useless own—Mr. Paine, I am going to cast in my lot with those poor waifs and give to them the best that is in me."

"You are a noble woman!" was all Gregory Paine said, and tone and face evidenced how sincerely he spoke.

It was two weeks later that Gloria Tresham uprooted the calm, peaceful home life of twenty years to go forth to meet the duty she had voluntarily assumed. She had sent no word to her prospective pensioners. She visited Northgate quietly, made a few inquiries and realized that she was bringing aid to the forlorn and needy just in time. The weather was bleak. As Gloria approached the house where old Mrs. Blair and her little group of dependents lived she discovered that they were huddled into one room. A girl of eight was gathering chips in the yard to keep alive the kitchen fire. Bending over the stove, preparing a meal of cereal only, was the aged mother of Wallace Blair. The shivering, ragged little tots stood timidly aside as the unexpected visitor entered.

"This is Mrs. Blair?" spoke Gloria. In her sweet, reassuring voice. "I am Gloria Tresham."

"I know—I know!" she faltered. "He told me of you often. He is gone and we are alone. You have come—"

"To stay. I have come," went on Gloria, "to be to you a daughter, if you will so have me, a mother to these little orphans. If you know, as you say, have I not the right?"

"He was a true man," murmured the aged woman, softly. "He was loyal, tender, true to poor Marion, but his heart had never strayed from you. You mean you will share our poor lives?"

"They shall be poor no longer," said Gloria. "Only give me a welcome—and love. My soul is craving for it, and I will bless heaven for the privilege of taking up his duties where Wallace Blair laid them down."

It was a beautiful summer evening six months after an angel of mercy had come into the desolate home—desolate no longer. Thrift, comfort, prosperity seemed to shine from the prettily painted cottage. In the garden three well-dressed, happy-faced tots were crowning "grandma" with a wreath of daisies.

"Some one is coming," spoke Esther, the eldest of the children, and all eyes were directed towards the rustic gateway through which a man leaning on a crutch had just passed. A sharp, quick cry issued from the lips of Gloria Tresham. She felt her senses deserting her. In form and substance, no writhing, but flesh and blood, slowly, staring unsteadily, bewildered, this was the dead alive—Wallace Blair!

He sank to a seat, the semblance of a man just recovering from some severe illness. The picture framed seemed to drift his soul into elysium. He closed his eyes and swayed as with a wild, ringing cry, his mother tottered towards him.

No More Kisses for Yanks; French Now Shake Hands in Conferring Croix de Guerre.

Diplomats among the marines in France have eliminated one of the horrors of being a hero, the Washington Times states. The announcement was casually made in a report from marine corps headquarters, describing the winning and award of 12 French war crosses to members of the American legion, known to the Germans as devil dogs. To be blunt about it, the news is this: "No longer do French officers kiss on each cheek an American who has won the croix de guerre. Instead the officer conferring the honor pins the bronze decoration to the left breast pocket of the hero and then shakes his right hand."

As yet the official files of the marine corps have not disclosed the name of the diplomat who brought about the change in French tactics in dealing with American heroes. It is understood, however, that he is an officer of no mean rank, who lately returned to the United States.

According to the information at hand, the first occasion upon which the French adopted the hand-shaking tactics of esteem was in May, just a few weeks after a company of marines sent in to relieve a detachment of their pals had driven off a storm battalion of Germans who had tried to stampede them.

The men were ordered to a section of woodland to receive their hard-won war crosses. A blare of trumpets greeted them. Then, after a few words of commendation, the French officers approached the Americans and pinned the medals. Some of the young heroes were ready to turn the other cheek, but to their surprise they found themselves being shaken warmly by the hand.

It was no surprise when the Americans at the end of the ceremony gave a cheer, and a strong, lusty one, too.

Thousands of Girls Cut Off Long Hair and Contribute It to Country for War Purposes

As proof of the sacrifices women are willing to make when their sentiments or emotions are aroused, it is related that thousands of girls, both in Germany and France, cut off their long hair and contributed it to their country for war purposes, says the People's Home Journal. The instance is not the first of its kind recorded in history, however.

An interesting example of similar devotion comes from northern Japan where a great temple was in progress of erection. Immense timbers were being hauled from the mountains to be placed in the building, and the work was delayed by the frequent breaking of the ropes. At length an edict was issued calling on the women to give their long hair which could be woven into ropes of sufficient strength for the purpose.

So generous was the response to the edict that two ropes were woven, one it is claimed, was 17 inches in circumference and 1,400 feet long; the other 10 inches around and 2,000 feet long. With these ropes the timbers were dragged to the temple site without further breakage.

FOR A LAUGH

Too Many Reminders.

Newrich—Young man, I had to work hard for my money.
Son—Well, dad, enough people in our set are throwing that up to me without your talking about it.

False Alarm.

Edie (apprehensive of a raid)—Hark! What's that noise?
Billy—Why, silly, that's only the ringing in my ears!

The Timid Teacher.

"I'm glad I can go back to school."
"Fine. What an ambitious little boy you are, to be sure."
"That ain't it. The teacher in school is afraid to lick me, but ma isn't."

Quite Likely.

"If you try to take away a fat bone from a hungry bulldog, what remains?"
"Your remains."

Special Inducements.

"How's things in your suburb? Any elvish spirit?"
"Plenty of it. Municipal bus meets all cooks."

Process of Obscuration.

"That man says he wants an investigation."
"I don't blame him," replied Senator Sorghum. "Sometimes the best way to cause people to forget all about you is to be investigated."

Celebrated Beauty.

"The advance man of Fiddle-de-Dee," the big musical comedy booked here next month, says there's a $100,000 beauty in the company.
"What did he mean by that?"
"He was referring to the prima donna. Her latest breach of promise suit netted her a sum in the neighborhood of $100,000."

HEALTH TALK

Spanish Influenza or Grip.

BY DR. LEE H. SMITH.

An old enemy is with us again, and whether we fight a German or a germ, we must put up a good fight, and not be afraid. The influenza runs a very brief course when the patient is careful, and if we keep the system in good condition and throw off the poisons which tend to accumulate within our bodies, we can escape the disease. Remember these three C's—a clean mouth, a clean skin, and clean bowels. To carry off poisons from the system and keep the bowels loose, daily doses of a pleasant laxative should be taken. Such a one is made of May-apple, leaves of aloes, root of jalap, and called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Hot lemonade should be used freely if attacked by cold, and the patient should be put to bed after a hot mustard foot-bath.

To prevent the attack of bronchitis or pneumonia and to control the pain, Anuric tablets should be obtained at the drug store, and one given every two hours, with lemonade. The Anuric tablets were first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and, as they flush the bladder and cleanse the kidneys, they carry away much of the poisons and the uric acid.

It is important that broths, milk, buttermilk, ice-cream and simple diet be given regularly to strengthen the system and increase the vital resistance. The fever is diminished by the use of the Anuric tablets, but in addition, the forehead, arms and hands may be bathed with water (to be used in a tablespoonful of salaratus has been dissolved in a quart. After an attack of grip or pneumonia to build up and strengthen the system, obtain at the drug store a good iron tonic, called "Ironic" Tablets, or that well known herbal tonic, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Banks Suffered No Great Loss.

In the great fire at Chicago, October 8 to 11, 1871, the buildings of 18 national banks were totally destroyed. It was feared the banks would sustain in many cases an almost total loss, but after the safes recovered from the ruins were opened it was found that the books, papers, etc., were in a condition to permit the recovery of debts and the banks suffered no loss on that score.

GOOD WEATHER AIDED

Nation's Food Crops This Year Have Been Bountiful.

Department of Agriculture Issues Interesting Report for November.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Good weather conditions in October resulted in an increase of 30,000,000 bushels in the country's crop of corn. The department of agriculture's November crop report placed the preliminary estimate of production at 2,749,198,000 bushels.

While the crop is smaller in size than last year, its foot value is materially greater because the quality this year is more than ten points higher.

With a wheat crop of about 919,000,000 bushels, which is some 100,000,000 bushels more than the average of the last five years, and large crops of buckwheat, rye, rice, beans, potatoes, onions and cabbage, the country's food crops this year have been bountiful.

The crop of tobacco is a record one by 70,000,000 pounds, being 1,266,686,000 pounds this year.

The potato crop fell to 390,101,000 bushels, 50,000,000 less than in 1917.

Carry Off Relief Supplies.

On the battle front in Belgium, Nov. 9.—German soldiers at one point in the retreat in Belgium carried off a stock of flour, lard and pork packed by the Belgian Relief commission and destined to feed the Belgian civilian population. Sixteen non-commissioned officers entered a flour mill and ordered the German soldiers to load six box cars with flour valued at $100,000. The relief commission's stores then were robbed of 48,000 pounds of lard and 18,000 pounds of pork.

Bookkeeping.

It comes as a surprise, very often, to find how far back in the centuries some of the ordinary things of everyday life cast their roots. It may not be generally realized that double-entry bookkeeping, for instance, adopted in most large businesses of the modern world, originated, or if it did not originate, was practiced, among the mercantile communities of Italy in the fifteenth century. An early exponent of the method was a Minorite monk named Luca De Burgo, otherwise Pacioli, who wrote and published a treatise on the subject in Venice in the year 1494, three years before Sebastian Cabot landed in America. The system survives as Luca De Burgo established it, with the exception of the few alterations necessitated by four centuries of commercial evolution. Still Mr. Evans or some one else tells strange stories of bookkeeping by double entry in the palace accounts of the Christian era.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE KINGS KICK IN

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
 (Written For the United Press)

The kings now plod their weary way
 To where the daisies bloom,
 For every dog must have his day,
 And then his night of doom.
 The kings are quite as out-of-date
 As Julius Caesar's pants,
 Yet, as he quits the stage of state,
 Each monarch loudly rants.
 The royal heeds have danced all night
 The piper seeks his pay,
 Now that the east is growing light
 With promise of The Day.
 Nick Romanoff has paid his bill
 And gently stepped aside;
 Franz Josef danced right well until
 He very kindly died.
 The late lamented Constantine
 Held tightly to his crown
 Until a kick beneath his spine
 The royal house brought down.
 The canny, queer, unsaved Chinese
 Bow down no more to kings,
 And eke the doughty Portuguese
 Have cut their leading-strings.
 Bye-bye King Karl and Kaiser Bill,
 The devil take you off,
 And may you never rest until
 You join Nick Romanoff!

WAR CONTRACTS ARE SAFE

Curtailment of Production Will Be Done Gradually.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Chairman Baruch of the War Industries board authorized the statement that the coming of peace will not result in immediate cancellation of war supply contracts, but that contracts will be cancelled gradually as requirements are reduced, making it possible to lift curtailments and restrictions upon ordinary industrial activities.

IAM METZ-CONFLANS ROADS

German Motor Trucks Are Filled With Men and Material.

With the American Armies in France, Nov. 9.—American fliers report that all the roads toward Metz and Conflans are literally jammed with enemy motor trucks filled with men and material. The Americans are rushing forward in trucks which they have been forced to employ to keep up with the fleeing Germans.

SECURE 405,000 PRISONERS

Allies Have Made Great Bag in Past Ten Months.

London, Nov. 9.—Two hundred thousand prisoners were taken by the British on the western front from Jan. 1 to Nov. 5, inclusive, according to an official announcement made in the House of Commons. In the same period the French captured 140,000, the Americans 50,000 and the Belgians 15,000.

Appeals to Bond Buyers.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Employers who have subscribed for Liberty Bonds through the institution for which they work were urged by Secretary McAdoo to complete their payments, according to agreement, or to arrange for a bank to take over the subscription in case they leave the employ of the institution through whom they bought originally. If employees do not complete their payments, both they and the government suffer as the bonds contracted for must be sold in the open market.

BRITISH FORCES ENTER TOWN

ABDICATION IS ASKED

Majority Parties in Germany Demand That Emperor William Quit the Throne and That Crown Prince Renounce Succession Right.

London, Nov. 9.—The German delegates at French army headquarters at a little village in the department of Aisne have been given the terms of the Allies under which Germany may secure an armistice and a German courier has gone to Spa, German headquarters in Belgium, with the document.

Emperor William is said to be at Spa awaiting the arrival of the courier with the momentous conditions.

Kaiser Refuses to Quit.

Notwithstanding the fact that the abdication of Emperor William is generally believed to be one of the armistice terms and the further fact that the majority parties in Germany have demanded that he quit the throne and that the crown prince renounce his right to succession, the emperor has refused to retire.

Meanwhile, throughout Germany revolt is in the air and the red flag is flying. A republic has been formed in Bavaria, and in addition to Kiel, Hamburg and Schleswig, Bremen is in turmoil. Prince Henry of Prussia, commander-in-chief of the German fleet, the greater part of which is said to be in revolt, is reported to have fled to Schleswig.

Huns Rush Back Home.

On the battlefields the Germans everywhere are being hurried backward to their borders. Tournai, an important railroad center in Belgium, on the line leading to Brussels, has been entered by the British, who are across the Scheldt with few barriers of great importance between them and Brussels.

To the south of Valenciennes, the British have taken Avesnes, another important railroad junction point, and all along the front have pushed the Germans further east. Maubeuge is being advanced upon by the British.

French Cut Into Foe.

The French have again cut deeply into the enemy's front. At last accounts they reached Liart, 20 miles north of Rethel on the railroad leading eastward to Mezieres. The taking of this town leaves only one railroad in this portion of France over which the enemy can retire. This is the Hirson line, which is being daily brought nearer and now at some places is dominated by the French guns.

Eastward the French are still driving forward and have joined hands with the Americans in the western outskirts of Sedan. More prisoners and large additional quantities of war stores have been taken by the French.

Americans Clear Nests.

Little infantry fighting occurred between the Americans and Germans west of the Meuse, but there were heavy reciprocal artillery bombardments. East of the river the Americans have cleared out several strong forest positions held by the enemy.

ADMIRAL TAKES THE BLAME

Officer Says Report of Armistice Signing Was Mistake.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The press association that sent out the premature peace dispatch has made public the following cablegram in explanation of its error:

Brest, France, Nov. 8.—Admiral H. B. Wilson, U. S. N., commander of the American Forces in French waters, made the following statement:

"The statement of the United Press relative to the signing of the armistice was made public from my office on the basis of what appeared to be official and authoritative information."

"I am in a position to know that the United Press and its representatives acted in perfect good faith and that the premature announcement was the result of an error for which the agency was in no wise responsible."

TREASURY BALANCE GROWS

Secretary McAdoo Orders Redemption of Debt Certificate.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Owing to the growing Treasury working balance, Secretary McAdoo ordered the redemption of $575,000,000 certificates of indebtedness issued Aug. 6 and maturing normally Dec. 5 on Nov. 21 at par and accrued interest. Interest will cease after that date.

Millions for Reconstruction.

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, in annual session here, appropriated $5,000,000 for post-war reconstruction work. Bishop W. P. Anderson of Cincinnati and Dr. B. M. Tipton, president of the American Methodist college at Rome, were designated to go overseas and supervise the European end of the work. A large part of the fund will be used in the establishment in Methodist colleges of scholarships for students who were called into the army.

HOME BUILT AROUND ICEBOX

Nature Kindly Furnished Cold Storage Facilities for Landowner in Western Montana.

The owner of a plot of ground in western Montana discovered on his property a well which emitted a constant current of cold air, which in hottest summer was about 35 degrees Fahrenheit, the temperature of scientific regulated refrigerators. With a business eye to economizing in ice he decided to build a house in such a position that the well would be at the side of the kitchen in a built-in addition. In this addition he afterward placed shelves and receptacles for storing perishable goods.

His next step was to build a store nearby, with an underground pipe connecting the well with a room in the basement of the store. Here he planned to keep perishable merchandise. The pipe led up into the store, also. It was provided with a damper so that it could be opened or shut in order to regulate the temperature of the room. In this way electric current for operating fans in hot weather was saved.

At the opening in the pipe the force of air current is sufficient to sweep a man's hat from his head. No satisfactory explanation of the current has been found. In winter the air is warmer than the outside atmosphere and prevents the stored articles from freezing.—Popular Science Monthly.

BOYCOTT OF HUNS HINTED IN SENATE

PENROSE BRINGS UP QUESTION OF TRADE DISCRIMINATION AGAINST GERMANY.

DEFINITE REPLY IS AVOIDED

President's Appeal for Election of Democratic Congress Put Political Dilemma—How Closing of Galleries Affects Senate and House.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington.—Up to within a short time talk of a boycott against Germany after the war has been unofficial, in various newspapers and periodicals, and in a desultory sort of way where persons in small groups have given vent to their decided views. But recently the discussion has become of a more public nature and has been limited at in congress. One of the rather pointed references to the possible discrimination of a boycott was a question put by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania to Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, the latter being chairman of the foreign relations committee. Penrose asked Hitchcock if there was any reason to believe that the United States could not make tariff laws after the war which would exclude German products. While the answer was not given definitely, yet the point was not raised that such laws would be incompatible with the Constitution. It was evident that the Pennsylvania senator had in mind the possibility of commercial discrimination against Germany when the war is over. The subject under discussion was the third of President Wilson's 14 peace points, which the Republicans have been claiming would prevent the United States from making its own tariff laws in the future, and Penrose was attempting to show that this third point if incorporated in any peace treaty would prevent trade discriminations against Germany. That this boycott against that country is being freely discussed shows what intense hatred has been aroused in this country against the Huns.

Politicians of both parties were very much in the air as to what would be the effect of the president's letter asking the country to elect a Democratic congress. Even the shrewdest and most observing politicians were unable to say whether the letter would cause a landslide towards the Democrats or would prove a boomerang and elect Republicans. Of course, as usual in campaigns of this kind, party leaders and others claimed that the effect would be helpful to them. The Democrats asserted that an appeal of this kind could not but win independent and wavering votes, because the country is naturally inclined to support the president. While Republicans claimed that the letter would prove to be a boomerang and react against the Democratic party, at the same time they were very angry, and severely criticized the president for taking such an unusual course. Altogether the situation was somewhat amusing to the onlooker because of the dilemma in which it seemed to place politicians who are regarded as knowing the political game from beginning to end.

Since the influenza epidemic closed the galleries of the senate that body of legislators has relaxed to a considerable extent. When the galleries were occupied there was an extremely solemn dignity about the senate proceedings. But now that the audience has been restricted to members of the press gallery the senate seems more human. On the other hand, the house has lost a good bit of its solemnity and decorum since its galleries were closed to the public. There is no doubt that a congressman's feelings are a whole lot different when he has several hundred strangers focused on him from what they are when no one is around but his colleagues, although it seems to affect senators and representatives in a different way.

So pleased is the post office department with the aerial mail service that it has issued a little folder similar to a small railway time card, in which it gives the time table of departures and arrivals of the aerial mail service, north bound and south bound, between Washington and New York, with the stop at Philadelphia. "Dependable and 100 per cent perfect," is one of the lines on the folder which makes it seem like an old-time railroad card. "No interruption to service by rain, snow or other weather conditions," also says this folder, which indicates that the department is very anxious to have the patronage of the aerial mail service increased.

Senator Bankhead of Alabama is getting to be an expert at presiding over the senate. Whenever Vice-President Marshall is away it is the duty of the president pro tempore to assume the chair, but President Pro Tem. Sausbury is having a hot fight for re-election on his hands in Delaware and it often happens that he is away from Washington when the vice president also is away. At such times the secretary of the senate reads a little note from Sausbury appointing the senator who is to preside in his place. So far this senator with few exceptions has been Bankhead.

WHEN THE ANNAMITES FEAST

Their Camp Cooks Prepare Meals
Which Are Unlike Any Served Up to the Other Allies.

During a day of Tropic I took occasion to visit an Annamite camp, writes Le Roy Baldrige in Asia Magazine. A bit of French landscape has been turned into Annam. Here one finds neither "Adriatic" barracks nor old stone farmhouses with roofs of red tile. Instead are the pagodas of the Orient, artistically fashioned of trees, bamboos, branches and straw. As we pass the kitchen we see at once that the dejeuner being prepared is not for Frenchmen. Most prominent is a kettle three feet in diameter containing rice. Which is the one thing a Polu cannot be forced to eat! Before the cook clamps back the lid we notice in the center of the white steaming mass a bowl of onions for flavoring. Squatted near by, the assistant cook with his couteau—a broad-bladed, curved Chinese blade two feet in length—chops up meat into little squares as he chants something with an appropriate rhythm the while. A driver comes for his meal. The cook drops a ladleful of rice on one side of the extended plate and on the other a little cube of boiled meat and in the center a splash of sauce. The sauce is the mystery. No Frenchman could explain it to me except in terms of violent gesticulation. Then instead of taking out a "couteau d'Apache" as all the rest of us do, and starting by slicing off a hunk of dark army bread from the loaf which every Polu keeps concealed somewhere about his person, our yellow comrade produces two sure-enough chop sticks from an inner pocket, and, sitting down on the running board of his truck, enters upon that fascinating feat of dining against the laws of gravity.

Fruit Pits Make a Highly Porous Charcoal Which Acts as Filter in War Gas Mask

"How does the government make gas masks out of peach stones?" is a question that every school pupil has asked of puzzled parents since the schools have begun the collection of peach and plum stones to fight German gas.

The answer is that the stones are not made into masks, but are transformed into charcoal that is used in the masks.

The American Chemical society in a bulletin explains the matter in this way: "Peach stones are used as the raw material for making the best grade of absorbent charcoal ever produced; and the charcoal is used in the respirator for absorbing the deadly gases in the inspired air."

"How does charcoal act? In the first place, it is exceedingly porous. It is produced, by roasting wood, dried blood, or other organic material, and this roasting decomposes the material into two parts, one of them gaseous, which passes off from the retorts, and one of them solid, which remains behind as charcoal. Every minute cell of the wood and every part of a cell gives up some of the gas during the operation and thus leaves minute pores all through the material. Thus the wood charcoal that we know is very bulky for its weight and contains innumerable fine pores. Now this highly porous charcoal has a remarkable property of absorbing certain kinds of substances."

"In the gas mask contaminated air passes through a layer of highly active carbon before it reaches the mouth, and the poisonous material is absorbed. It is apparent that the more active the charcoal is, the more the absorbing power can be packed into the small box on the front of the mask. Now, all charcoal from all sources is not equally active. Hence, before charcoal was used successfully in masks a very active form had to be produced. And it was found that the hard, dense, compact substance of nut shells and fruit stones formed the most condensed and actively absorbing charcoal. The pores of the charred material are infinitely fine and numerous and hence a given volume of the carbon will do far more work than the same volume of other kinds of charcoal."

President Reads Armistice Terms

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 11—President Wilson today addressed the joint session of Congress at one o'clock regarding the armistice terms which brought Germany to surrender, ending the war.

The allied armistice terms accepted by Germany as read by President Wilson to the joint session of congress at one o'clock this afternoon includes: Cessation of hostilities, evacuation of invaded territory, including Alsace Lorraine and Luxemburg, surrender of a vast amount of guns and equipment, the evacuation of the left bank of the Rhine, surrender of the vast amount of rolling stock in the occupied territories, abandonment of the Bucharest and Brest treaties, unconditional surrender of all German forces in East Africa, the concentration of air craft at stipulated points, the evacuation of all Black Sea ports, the restoration of all allied and United States merchant vessels, duration of the armistice to 30 days, reparation for all damages done, and the surrender of scores of submarines and larger vessels.

(Specials to the Dispatch by the United Press.)

"America Gains All She Fought For."

---PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON.

Washington--President Wilson to-day issued the following proclamation: My fellow countrymen—the armistice was signed this morning. Everything for which America fought has been accomplished. It will now be our fortunate duty to assist by example, by sober friendly counsel and by material aid in the establishment of just democracy throughout the world, Signed, WOODROW WILSON, President,

American Boys Delighted Laughed and Sang

BY WEBB MILLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

With the Americans in France, Nov. 11—Motorcycle couriers tore along the road shouting "It's All Over, Boys!" The marching columns tired and mudspattered, were galvanized into new life. They shouted, laughed and sang. It was easy to tell who had heard and who had not. Grim men were turned instantly into laughing boys. With watches in their hand the gunners continued pouring fourteen inch and smaller shells far into the German rear until the last minute.

PRES. CANCELS OUTSTANDING DRAFT CALLS

Washington, Nov. 11—Robert J. Bender—At six o'clock this morning, United States Eastern time, the greatest war in history came to an end, the State Department officially announced to-day. The German plenipotentiaries signed United States and Allied armistice terms at Marshall Foch's headquarters at five o'clock this morning, French time, and that hostilities ceased at 11 o'clock this morning, French time. While an armistice merely halts war and does not end it the terms laid down by Foch are such as to prevent Germany from renewing hostilities and the war therefore may be regarded as definitely ended. There remains now the great problems of a peace conference and the gigantic work of returning the fighters to the home lands.

Geneva and Brussels are considered as most likely place for the peace negotiations, and so far the General Staff has already completed its plans for a general demobilization. The nation celebrated wildly to-day. Factories and stores everywhere were closed and thousands formed intertwining parades.

Kaiser Bill Flees to Holland

London, Nov. 11, Germany today is Kaiserless and Kingless. All reports tended to show that in addition to the Emperor all the Kings, Princes Grand Dukes and other Royalty of the Empire, had renounced that their divine right to rule over a people which already had abdicated that right by Revolution. Former Kaiser Bill has fled to Utrecht Holland with his frau.

At Ironton the little baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Small is alive and improving. Mrs. Small died of Spanish influenza and the funeral was held on Monday morning. Mr. Small has passed the danger point and is expected to recover from the disease.

Court was adjourned sine die at International Falls last week by Judge W. S. McClenahan, and the fall term will be merged with the January term. The influenza epidemic was the cause of the adjournment. The November term of court was also adjourned at Brainerd in October for a similar reason.

HEARS THE GLAD TIDINGS AT CAPITOL

In a message to the Dispatch, Senator George H. Gardner, from Washington, D. C. wired:

"As news was flashed of Germany's surrender I was seated in Judge Advocate General E. H. Crowder's private office, taking dictation from him personally. General Crowder is one of the military geniuses of the present time. He is father of the draft system."

ROLL OF HONOR

Private Ben Olson of the hospital corps at Camp Grant, Ill., is home on a short furlough and returns Saturday. Then he leaves for over there.

Attorney Thomas W. Beare serving on the draft board force at Morrison county visited his parents in the city Saturday and Sunday.

So pleased is the post office department with the aerial mail service that it has issued a little folder similar to a small railway time card, in which it gives the time table of departures and arrivals of the aerial mail service, north bound and south bound, between Washington and New York, with the stop at Philadelphia. "Dependable and 100 per cent perfect" is one of the lines on the folder which makes it seem like an old-time railroad card.

"No interruption to service by rain, snow or other weather conditions," also says this folder, which indicates that the department is very anxious to have the patronage of the aerial mail service increased.

Senator Bankhead of Alabama is getting to be an expert at presiding over the senate. Whenever Vice-President Marshall is away it is the duty of the president pro tempore to assume the chair, but President Pro Tem. Saulsbury is having a hot fight for re-election on his hands in Delaware and it often happens that he is away from Washington when the vice president also is away. At such times the secretary of the senate reads a little note from Saulsbury appointing the senator who is to preside in his place. So far this senator with few exceptions has been Bankhead.

In Less Than Five Months Hog Island, World's Largest Shipyard, Was Half Completed

A year or so ago Hog Island was a dismal morass of mud, stagnant water and tangled weeds. Not many months ago it was a national scandal. Today, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, it is the world's greatest shipyard. Labeled a "phantasmagoria of patriotic pretense" in the halls of congress, it became in the poisoned public mind, a national cancer fed by greed and corruption. Thus did German propaganda, their tools and puppets, for a time hinder the growth of one of the most powerful enemies of the Hun's U-boats.

In wartime, a day or an hour may shape a nation's destiny. The builders at Hog Island have realized this. Speed has been the watchword. Nothing but a world crisis could have produced in a few short months a single shipyard with a capacity one-fourth as great as the combined capacity of all the shipyards in Great Britain—until now the foremost shipbuilding nation of the world.

From the moment the first shovel of earth was excavated, September 22, 1917, until the present time, work has progressed in almost magic manner. In blinding snowstorms and in the teeth of zero winds, men thawed frozen ground with live steam and drove tens of thousands of wooden and concrete piles. They laid a maze of railway tracks, built piers, erected a forest of towers, constructed massive shops and supply depots, and in less than five months had the world's largest shipyard half completed and the keel of the first ship laid!

Hog Island has training schools where unskilled men and boys are given intensive instruction and in a few days or weeks made valuable workmen. It has its own hospitals. Its recreation fields and buildings. It operates restaurants that serve thousands of meals daily without profit. It has an armed guard of 600 men, and a large, well-trained fire department. It goes in for welfare work. In short, it is a complete city without an unemployed man within its confines.

Merchantmen aggregating 8,000,000 tons are now flying the American flag. Think, then, what it means for the Hog Island shipyard to turn out in present now and the close of 1919, ships totaling approximately 1,500,000 tons.

"How did your war garden turn out?"
"Fine," answered Mr. Crosslots. "I raised enough weeds to prove that the soil would be simply wonderful for something else if I could make it grow."

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 30c and 50c a box. All druggists.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts if your back hurts or bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day eat it but flush your kidneys with salt occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. The become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or side, headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

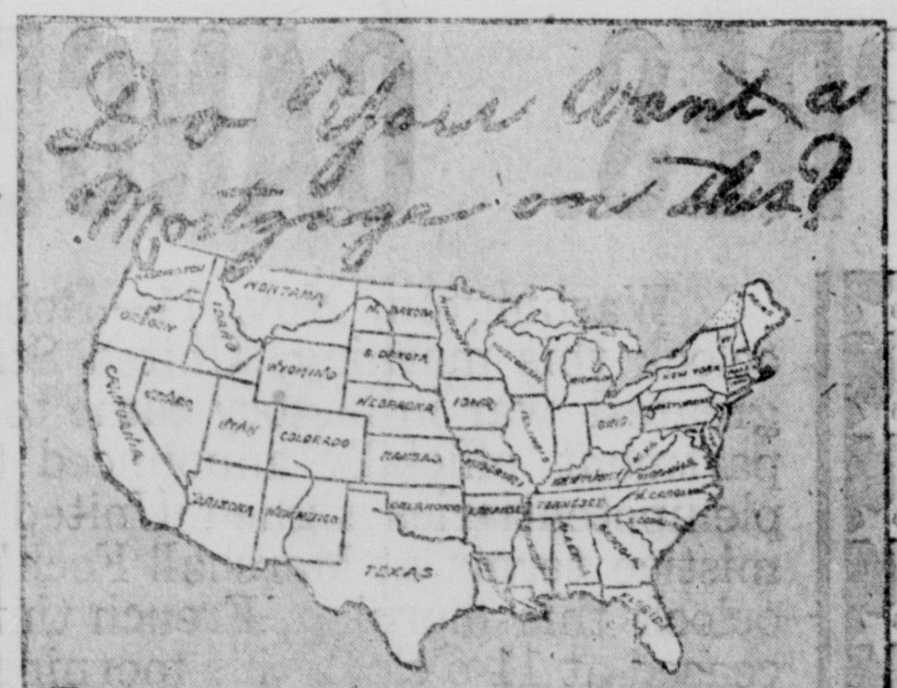

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Read to the Children.

When children read a book to themselves the words do not leave the same impression upon their minds as when they hear them read aloud. When some one reads a book to them they learn how to pronounce those words which puzzled them; and if they do not know the meaning, it is easy to ask.

The Logical Place.

"When the waiter at the club was arrested as a spy, where did they take him to question him?"

"They took him to the grill room."

The Very Best.

Prince Max Appeals to Them Not to Lose Faith.

Chancellor Says People Have Won Big Victory Over Their Belief in Right of Might.

London, Nov. 11.—Prince Maximilian, just before tendering his resignation as German imperial chancellor, issued an appeal, "to Germans abroad," in which he said:

"In these difficult days the hearts of many among you, my fellow countrymen, who outside the frontier of the German fatherland are surrounded by manifestations of malicious joy and hatred, will be heavy. Do not despair of the German people.

"Our soldiers have fought to the last moment as heroically as any army has ever done. The homeland has shown unprecedented strength in suffering and endurance.

"In the fifth year, abandoned by its allies, the German people could no longer wage war against the increasingly superior forces. The victory for which many had hoped has not been granted to us. But the German people has won still greater victory over itself and its belief in the right of might.

"From this victory we shall draw new strength for the hard time which faces us and on which you also can build."

METAL FUMES KILL 25

Workmen Lose Their Lives in Steel Plant in Pittsburgh.

Gas From Molten Metal Escapes From Furnaces Into One Being Repaired.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 11.—As a result of inhaling gas fumes at the Eliza furnaces of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company here, 25 men are dead, several others and nearly two score were overcome.

The victims were at work relining a furnace when the accident occurred. In some unknown manner the carbon monoxide gas which comes from molten metal escaped from adjoining furnaces into the one in which the workers were engaged.

As soon as word of the accident spread through the plant other workmen dropped their tasks and formed rescue squads. In this manner many lives were saved.

Coroner Samuel Jamison announced that he will conduct a thorough investigation into the cause of the accident.

READY TO CONVERT PLANTS

War Industries Can Soon Turn to Peaceful Pursuits.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Chairman Baruch of the War Industries board is preparing to gear American industries back to a peace footing as soon as assurance is received that hostilities are definitely declared at an end. He says the same agencies that converted industries from a peace to a war footing will, with equal facility, place them back where they were, increased in size, efficiency and strength.

Mr. Baruch has given all manufacturers of war materials the assurance that they will be protected against loss if contracts are canceled.

ADVOCATES RIGID ECONOMY

Food Administration Frowns on Afternoon Teas.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The American people were asked by the Food administration to discontinue afternoon teas, theater parties and all meals except the usual three a day. Conservation of cereals and sugar is now of vital importance, said the appeal.

Washington, Nov. 11.—
the world war ended this morning at six o'clock Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time. The armistice was signed by the German rep-

The department's an-

"The armistice has been signed."

AUSTRIAN SOLDIERS KILLED

Many Lose Their Lives by Trains on Way Home.

Innsbruck, Austria, Nov. 11.—Bavarian troops have occupied the railway station here.

Austrian troops are returning from the former front in swarms, clinging to the cars wherever they can get a hold. Many have been crushed or decapitated by the trains passing through tunnels. Bodies to the number of 203 were picked up in a single day on the railroad tracks near Innsbruck.

FOUR CABINET MEMBERS QUIT

German Ministers Are Reported to Have Resigned.

London, Nov. 11.—The resignation of the German ministers of the interior, instruction, agriculture and finance are reported in a telegram received from Berlin. The Prussian food controller again has requested to be relieved from office and the resignation of the Prussian minister of public works has been in the hands of the cabinet for some time.

LOOTERS ARE BEING SHOT

Disorders at Munich Are Said to Be Subsiding.

Zurich, Nov. 11.—The disorder has subsided in Munich, according to latest reports. The whereabouts of the king is unknown. Casualties in the rioting are few, being confined for the most part to officers who resisted. The Landtag has been dissolved. Only Socialists and deputies are permitted to enter the building.
Looters are being shot.

SERIOUS TROUBLE BREWING

Count von Reventlow Says Anarchy
Will Prevail.

London, Nov. 11.—Count von Reventlow, whose pan-German writings have appeared during the war in the Tages Zeitung of Berlin, has fled to Denmark. He declared to a correspondent at the frontier that the situation would be much worse in Germany when the soldiers returned from the front. General anarchy could be expected.

SOLDIERS INCITING REVOLT

Trainload Leaves Bremen to Induce
Other Towns to Join.

London, Nov. 11.—A train filled with soldiers has been sent out from Bremen for the purpose of persuading other towns to join the revolution, says a dispatch from the Danish frontier, forwarded here by the correspondent at Copenhagen of the Exchange Telegraph company.

Poland Takes Galicia

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Professor Lammach, the Austrian premier, has received official notification, says a dispatch from Vienna, that Poland has assumed sovereignty over Galicia.

Naval Balloon Escapes

Washington, Nov. 11.—A naval life balloon escaped from the flying field at Akron, Ohio, during a 30-mile blow.
The Navy department announced that when last seen from the camp it was headed in a northeasterly direction and requested persons sighting it when it lands to notify the officers at Akron. The balloon, the announcement said, may stay in the air long enough to be carried 300 miles before it lands for lack of gas. That would take it somewhere in Canada.

Ireland Lives in Plenty.
Although only a three-hour boat trip separates England and Ireland, there is as much difference as between day and night in the two islands, as far as food is concerned, says the New York Sun.

Ireland is not rationed voluntarily or otherwise, and there is plenty of everything, with the exception of sugar. In respect to food it is more pleasantly situated than the United States or England, because prices have not advanced as they have in America, and are no higher than in England, where the ministry of food not only rationed, but controls prices. Ireland always has sent quantities of meat and dairy products to England and still is doing so.

Amazing Nerve.
An elderly British army officer is a tester of parachutes, and it is his almost daily business to go up in observation balloons to a height of some thousands of feet and then to throw himself out with a parachute for a lifetime. Sometimes he falls nearly 1-000 feet before the parachute opens.
He may land in the oddest places, and the other day he and his parachute came down in the middle of a busy street, and he narrowly escaped being run over by a motor-omnibus. There was also an occasion when he found himself upon the roof of a house with no visible means of getting down therefrom, and for some little time his position was precarious.

BRAINERD DISPATCH FLASHES THE NEWS

Telephone Message from United Press
Received at the Office at 2:30
This Morning

OFFICIAL FROM WASHINGTON

This Time it was a Sure Thing, and
No Admiral's Statement about War—City Celebrates

GERMANY SURRENDERS!

The Brainerd Dispatch got the news at 2:30 this morning by telephone from the United Press, and it was the real thing this time, official from Washington.

According to Paris time the Allies and Germany signed the armistice terms at 5 o'clock this morning.

Having had one premature announcement by United Press the Dispatch this time made the announcement by a special edition which was put on the street at 5:50 a. m. and which was backed up by a United Press telegram at 8:11 a. m.

Celebration Accident

Ben Thomas of N. E. Brainerd shot a finger off this morning while celebrating.

Brainerd Goes Wild

The Northern Pacific railway shops ceased work quickly and all down town was soon black with people. Automobiles were gayly decorated with the national colors. At every home the flags flashed out.

Machinists Drum Corps

The Machinists drum corps mobilized and marched to the Chamber of Commerce and played in the street.

Nick Christoff

Nick Christoff, who last Thursday staged the kid parade, today got a Ford truck and the orchestra from the roller rink. No power could be obtained to run the machinery and so volunteers turned the handle.

Big Parade Under Way

At 9:45 a. m. the big parade got a start down town. It was a spontaneous affair. Led by the Machinists drum corps, the unions fell in line, some with banners, other with none. Conspicuous were the Steam Fitters, Machinists and other banners.

After them came cars and cars, decorated in patriotic colors. The shop whistle tooted a loud accompaniment to the cheering.

Girl clerks allied several large trucks and yelled and yelled. C. L. Mott staged a new kind of a noise maker. Three sections of culvert sheeting had an iron axle attached with numerous bells, bolts and other iron scraps and drawn by a Ford emitted one continuous rattle and roar.

Everybody Quits Work

Stores down town early ceased to function. The boss didn't show up and the clerks were out celebrating.

Parade Grows Larger

The Brainerd City band joined the parade at the Citizens State bank block. The Star Spangled Banner was the first offering and the crowd bared heads. Cheers split the air at its conclusion.

More Banners

More banners, more men, women and children in the parade. H. W. Linnemann at the rear urged all to come in and they marched. More cars joined.

At the Postoffice

Postmaster H. P. Dunn hoisted to the breeze the flags of all the Allies. At the top of the flag pole floated Old Glory, then the brave Belgian, the vigorous English, the victorious Italians.

Fat Wood

Fat Wood and friends in a car carried an effigy of the kaiser. Fat was one of the first celebrators on the street, covering the town in Henry Johnson's bus. Fat and a few other early birds awoke everybody in the business district and helped spread the first issue of The Daily Dispatch.

Kids Galore

Kids galore were in line. One rig pulled by a lone horse carried 16 kids, their restaurant tom-tom, etc.

Trains Whistle

Yard engines started tooting early, singly and in chorus. Nobody begrudged the steam and coal used.

Shop Whistle

The shop whistle roared at minute intervals during the parade. The Northwest Paper Co. mill tooted.

41st Wedding Anniversary

"Our forty-first wedding anniversary was this morning," said I. U. White, "and we supposed at first the neighbors had remembered us."

FARM HOUSE WAS BURNED TO GROUND

The vacant farm house of Mrs. Wm. Cossette of 711 South Fifth street burned to the ground on the South Thirteenth street road about 7 p. m. on Sunday. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Neighbors were powerless to extinguish the same, seeing the flames when the structure was doomed.

The building was a landmark in a way, having been constructed years ago by two Lindbergh brothers. Tamarack lumber was used throughout and the sills were of the heaviest kind imaginable.

Case 0-2

DISPATCH WAS ON THE JOB TODAY

The first inkling of the signing of the armistice by Germany came by telephone at 2:30 this morning and the St. Paul headquarters of the United Press got the Dispatch reporter, John A. Hoffbauer, on the telephone.

The Dispatch force was notified. It was an unearthly hour for an afternoon paper to get out an extra, but by 5:30 a. m. the foreman Albert O. Anderson, assisted by Walter Hedlund and others had the extra on the street under the direction of Editor F. W. Wieland.

Credit should also be given young Hedlund. He was the first to act as newsboy and he certainly peddled the first output. Young Roy Hanson, distributed many copies.

At 10:30 the second extra of the Dispatch, four pages, flashed out and scores of newsboys sold the copies and "beat out" any outside paper in giving the big news publicity in Brainerd.

Notwithstanding a reduced force the newspaper department and Fred L. Britton of the job department got together and pushed the three issues of the paper through to "victory."

On many sides the Dispatch received commendation for its enterprise.

"CLARK'S"

Do You Pay Your Bills?

Slander (?)

"THERE'S A man who has gone to the bad."

"He told—why I thought he was getting along fine—he's got a good job—what's the matter with him?"

"Don't pay his bills! When he came to town he was one of the best customers we had—see an account—and paid it promptly—but for the past year, getting money out of him has been like getting blood out of a turnip."

(Overheard on the street last week.)

The man referred to was a young man—just fairly started on life's highway—started out good—BUT DWINDLING FAST.

YOUNG—and a handsome like that. A UNIVERSAL REPUTATION AS A DEAD BEAT. We hope that young man reads this article and has the sense to know that it applies to him. We hope he fully realizes what he is doing—how he is building, or rather, how HE IS TEARING DOWN.

He started to build right—BUT... There's a big hope, YOUNG MAN—turn over the leaf before it's too late. PAY YOUR BILLS—REMIT your obligations—SAVE YOUR HONOR—BUILD A NEW. You must if you ever expect to succeed.

The Small, Still Voice

A MAN of right convictions can defy public opinion—but a man convicted of wrong by his own conscience cannot—and PROGRESS.

BY EVERY MAN-MADE AND GOD-MADE LAW YOU SHOULD PAY YOUR BILLS.

When you incur obligations you give your word—your honor—that you will pay—and surely your conscience has not been so deceived that it does not prompt you to do RIGHT.

There's a spark that flickers now and then even in the breasts of murderers and thieves. In the seasoned "DEAD BEAT" that spark is dead.

If your unpaid and overdue bills do not bother you, if you can go day after day and night after night without a prod from your conscience, then you have sunk to the lowest depths and have become a "DEAD BEAT."

YOUR HONOR, YOUR PRIDE, YOUR WORD,
YOUR PASSPORT TO SUCCESS, all are gone.

You, Only Can

BUT—if that little spark still remains THERE'S A CHANCE.

IT'S YOU, and you alone, that makes it possible to do better.

If you are determined to do right—if you are determined to re-establish honor and your word—YOU CAN.

Every man on every hand is willing to help. Every merchant in the city is interested in you. He wants you to be a good customer and good pay. He would rather have your credit unlimited than limited—but it's up to you.

Determine to make your word as good as your bond and you can come back, come up again to the heights of respectability.

Go see the men you owe. Tell them what you can do—just how much you can pay on back bills—and get straightened out. Show them you are in earnest, pay them, continue paying them promptly, and you have arrived.

You don't have to be a rascal. You DON'T HAVE TO BE A DEAD BEAT, YOU CAN BE HONORABLE, HONEST, AND RESPECTABLE—but IT'S UP TO YOU.

Brainerd Business Men's Ass'n.

Nothing is too good for Uncle Sam's fighting men. The airplane ambulance is being tried out today. Under the best of conditions, the wounded sometimes must wait for hours before reaching a dressing station. They do not complain, but the government's attention is to have the airplane ambulance scout over the battlefield and pick up those in most urgent need of surgical aid. This picture does not show a cover which has to be removed when a wounded man is being lifted in or out. It keeps him from falling from the machine.

Codfish and Macaroni.

To one cupful of cold cooked macaroni add a cupful of flaked codfish that has been broiled if salt fish is used, or boiled if fresh codfish is used. Put into a baking dish, sprinkle with salt, pepper and crumbs. Dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with a little grated onion and moisten with a little milk. Bake until brown in a hot oven.

Macaroni seasoned with a little chopped green pepper and chopped onion, with a cupful of white sauce; bake until well heated.

Deviled Chicken.

Make a sauce of salt, pepper, dry mustard, paprika, grated lemon peel, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of tabasco. Add a large lump of butter when the sauce begins to boil. When very hot add some cubes of cold cooked chicken and cook until heated through. Cold cooked veal, pork or beef may be used in the same way.

Soy Bean Loaf With Tomato Sauce.

Pick over, wash and soak for 12 hours one-half pound of soy beans. Cook in simmering water until tender. When done, mash and cool; add three teaspoonfuls of salt, two cupfuls of milk, one small onion chopped fine, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper, two well-beaten eggs and two cupfuls of dry bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. Serve with plenty of well-seasoned tomato sauce.

KAISER DECIDES TO QUIT RULING

Emperor Renounces the German Throne and Crown Prince Will Follow Suit.

REGENCY WILL RESULT

Chancellor Maximilian Decides to Remain in Office Until Matters Connected With the Abdication Have Been Adjusted.

London, Nov. 11.—The German emperor and king of Prussia, William von Hohenzollern, has decided to renounce the throne. This declaration is made in a decree issued at Berlin by the imperial chancellor, Prince Maximilian of Baden.

The German crown prince will also renounce the throne and a regency will be set up.

Prince Maximilian will remain in office until matters connected with the abdication of the emperor are settled, and Friedrich Ebert, vice president of the social democratic party, will replace him as chancellor during the regency.

Last Original Foe Ruler.

With the passing from power of William Hohenzollern, all the heads of the governments of the Central powers when they entered the war, have died or lost their thrones. Emperor Francis Joseph and the Sultan of Turkey died before their countries agreed to Allied armistice terms, and Ferdinand of Bulgaria abdicated to be succeeded by his son, who gave up the throne when his people rose against him.

The other European emperor, at the beginning of the war, Nicholas Romanoff, was deposed in March, 1917, and murdered in July, 1918.

Thirty years and almost five months after he ascended the imperial throne, William Hohenzollern, his armies defeated in the field, forced to sue for armistice terms, and the German people in revolt, gives up his power.

Nation Torn by Revolution.

He came into authority with his country at the threshold of an era of peace and material progress; he leaves it torn by revolution and suffering from the hardships and sacrifices of more than four years of war—virtually ruined.

Prince Maximilian, the imperial chancellor, will remain in office until questions connected with the abdication of the emperor are settled.

For the regency, Friedrich Ebert, a socialist and president of the main committee of the Reichstag, will be chancellor.

Ernest August, Duke of Brunswick, son-in-law of the emperor, also has abdicated and renounced the rights of his heir.

BRITISH NEARING BRUSSELS

Advance to Within Artillery Range of Belgian City.

London, Nov. 11.—On the battlefield the Germans everywhere continued to suffer defeat at the hands of the British, French and American forces.

In the north Field Marshal Haig's forces have driven the enemy beyond the Franco-Belgian frontier south of the Sambre canal and now are almost within gun range of Brussels.

The Germans are showing stiffer resistance with rear guards, but nevertheless the British are overcoming these efforts and pushing forward.

BIG INDEMNITY TO BELGIUM

Germany May Be Called on to Pay Two Billion Dollars.

London, Nov. 11.—According to reliable authorities, the Allies will not attempt to saddle their bill on the Central Powers as one of the peace terms. The Huns, it is figured, will have enough to do to pay the indemnities that will be demanded.

As an instance of what the enemy will have to pay, the indemnity Belgium alone will ask will be close to $2,000,000,000. Germany also will have to pay huge indemnities to Serbia, Roumania, Montenegro, Italy, Russia and France.

OBJECT LESSON TO WORLD

Samuel Gompers Refers to American Government and People.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—"We have come back to our country more thoroughly convinced that our people and our government stand out as a wonderful object lesson to the peoples of the whole world," declared Samuel Gompers in his "Report to the American People" on the work of the labor mission to Europe.

Gorky Joins Bolsheviks.

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—News comes from Moscow that Maxim Gorky, until recently understood to be hostile to the soviet government, has become converted to Bolshevism. He has accepted from Lunasharsky, the "People's Commissioner for Public Enlightenment," a commission to edit an anthology of the literature of the last century, in 2,000 volumes. Gorky's wife, Andreyanna, actress, has been given the management of the Bolshevik people's theater.

HOOVER GOING TO EUROPE

Will Aid in Supplying Food to Districts in Need.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Immediate arrangements are to be made by the American and Allied governments for supplying the food necessary for the rehabilitation of the people of Northern France and Belgium and the demoralized civilian populations in Southern Europe.

America's part in the program is to be under the direction of Food Administrator Hoover, who organized the Commission for Relief in Belgium, and of which he still is chairman.

The State department announced that President Wilson had requested Mr. Hoover to take charge for the American government in co-operation with the various governments concerned, of the organization of measures for the projected food relief and to proceed at once to Europe to begin his task.

YANKS MAKE DASHING DRIVE

Capture Strong Positions in Final Fighting of War.

With the American Forces in France, Nov. 11.—The First and Second American armies, in their attacks extending along the Moselle and the Meuse, advanced on a front of approximately 75½ miles.

French troops operating under the American command also advanced at various points.

The captured territory includes the German stronghold of Stenay, Grimaucourt, east of Verdun, and numerous villages and fortified positions in Lorraine.

Aroused by repeated German raids and local attacks during the last few nights west of the Moselle, the Second American army in its initial attack cracked down the Germans with artillery preparation lasting several hours.

WILSON APPEALS TO NATION

President Asks People to Oversubscribe War Work Fund.

Washington, Nov. 11.—President Wilson in a letter to Dr. John R. Mott, director general of the United War Work Campaign, which has begun a drive for $170,000,000 to be expended in relief work among the American soldiers and sailors by seven organizations, expressed the hope that the American people would give prompt and generous response to the appeal. The letter was made public at the White House.

"No matter how far distant the day of peace may prove to be," the President said, "it will be followed by a long period of demobilization during which the opportunity and need for the constructive work of these organizations will be quite as great as in war times."

Predicts Slump in Corn.

Washington, Nov. 11.—A big slump in the price of corn is likely to result the moment the war ends, according to a letter recently written to Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska by Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator. Nebraska farmers had complained to Senator Hitchcock about the permit system for shipment of coarse grains inaugurated by the food administration. They left this action was responsible for a slump in prices at that time.

SEEKS ASYLUM ACROSS BORDER

Former German Emperor Has Arrived in Holland After Renouncing Throne.

JOY REIGNS AT BERLIN

Capital Receives Tidings of Kaiser's Abdication With General Manifestations of Approval, Tempered by Fear for the Future.

London, Nov. 11.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Copenhagen quotes the Politiken as saying that when the former German emperor arrived at Maastricht he was accompanied by the former empress.

Washington, Nov. 11.—William Hohenzollern has arrived in Holland and is proceeding to the town of De Steeg, near Utrecht, according to a dispatch received by the American army general staff from The Hague. The message said:

"Press reports state that the former kaiser arrived in Maastricht, Holland, and is proceeding to Middachten castle in the town of De Steeg, near Utrecht."

De Steeg is on the Guelders Yssel, an arm of the Rhine river about 40 miles east of Utrecht and 12 miles from the German border. The chateau Middachten, to which the former emperor is reported to be proceeding, belongs to Count William Frederick Charles Henry von Bentinck. He is a member of the Prussian guards and before the war was attached to the German embassy in London and a member of the English Turf and Royal Automobile clubs. He is 38 years old. He belongs to the famous Anglo-Dutch-German house of Bentinck, the continental branch of the family of the Duke of Portland.

Middachten castle dates back to the year 1697.

News Brings Joy to Berlin.

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—News of Emperor William's abdication was received at Berlin with general rejoicing which was tempered by the fear that it had come late.

Signs Abdication Document.

London, Nov. 11.—Emperor William signed a letter of abdication at the German grand headquarters in the presence of Crown Prince Frederick William and Field Marshal Hindenburg, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegraph company.

The German crown prince signed his renunciation to the throne shortly afterwards.

It is believed that King Ludwig III. of Bavaria and King Frederick August of Saxony also have abdicated.

The ex-kaiser and the former crown prince took leave of their troops Saturday but nothing has been settled regarding their future movements, according to advices from neutral sources.

GERMAN REVOLT SPREADING

Serious Outbreaks Are Reported in Many Large Cities.

Amsterdam, Nov. 11.—Among the latest moves to come under control of the Workmen's and Soldiers' councils are Aix-la-Chapelle, Casel, Nuremberg, Mannheim, Gladbach and Muenster. A general strike has been proclaimed in Nuremberg and Mannheim. Order has been restored in Hamburg, where the police have been permitted to resume their duties under the direction of the Workmen's and Soldiers' council, and places of public amusement have been reopened.

In Cologne the entire garrison sided with the Workers' council, whose program included, according to the Cologne Gazette, the abolition of all German dynasties, the annulment of war loans, with special consideration for the subscribers from the poorer classes, the liberation of all political prisoners and the abolition of saluting.

Italian King Goes to Triest.

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 11.—King Victor Emanuel left headquarters today for Triest.

Hanover and Magdeburg in Revolt.

Copenhagen, Nov. 11.—Rebellions have occurred in Hanover, Cologne, Brunswick and Magdeburg, according to the official announcement at Berlin. These cities, however, are not wholly in the hands of the mutineers the statement adds. At Magdeburg the garrison resisted. Six German battle ships anchored outside of Flensburg have directed their guns against the revolutionists, and a bombardment is expected. The battle Koenig, which refused to surrender, was taken after a hard fight.

Do Something Better Than the Other Fellow--- and ADVERTISE

Advertising cannot accomplish the impossible any more than barren ground can yield rich crop.

But how advertising does make things hum when the product and proposition are right, the men and methods above board, when there's an honest purpose and earnest effort from bundle boy to general manager to serve efficiency, to deal honestly, to sell good goods, to price fairly.

Oil up the machinery of your business, imbue your organization with the spirit of true service, make your business worthy of the good will, the confidence, the patronage of the people.

In this fertile field then sow the seed of advertising and it will bring forth abundant crops in increased business and augmented prestige.

Your store news in the Dispatch will be read in practically every home in Brainerd and vicinity every evening.
